Dr. Qaqi is a board-certified Interventional Cardiologist. He completed his training at the Detroit Medical Center Heart Hospital, where he saw and treated some of the most complex and high-risk patients in the country. He is also trained and efficient in the newest technology available to treat arterial disease. He received his Doctor of Medicine at the Medical University of the Americas, St Kitts & Nevis.

As an interventional cardiologist, Dr. Qaqi believes in the critical uniqueness of each individual patient that he sees. He strives to provide the best care for a shorter recovery time. He specializes in minimally invasive procedures that rely on catheters and small incisions instead of traditional surgery. These procedures include balloon angioplasty to open blocked arteries, implantation of coronary stents to hold open previously blocked arteries and cardiac catheterization.

Residency: Internal Medicine – Detroit Medical Center / Sinai Grace Hospital

Fellowship: Internal Medicine/Cardiology - Detroit Medical Center/Wayne State University
