Emily Wilk is a Family Nurse Practitioner who graduated from Chamberlain University in May 2026. She brings over a decade of clinical nursing experience across high-acuity and multidisciplinary healthcare settings, including experience in a Level IV Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU). Her clinical background has strengthened her advanced assessment skills, attention to medication management, and ability to collaborate effectively with multidisciplinary healthcare teams.

Throughout her nursing career, Emily has been committed to patient education, preventive care, and care coordination. She is particularly passionate about improving health literacy, reducing health disparities, and providing evidence-based, patient-centered care. Her leadership experience includes founding a nurse-to-resident liaison initiative and developing a community-focused parent CPR education program.

As she transitions into advanced practice, Emily is focused on comprehensive primary care across the lifespan, chronic disease management, and preventive health strategies. She brings compassion, clinical experience, and a strong commitment to quality care to her practice. Emily is dedicated to building meaningful relationships with her patients and contributing to a collaborative healthcare team where compassionate, efficient, and evidence-based care are prioritized.
